 You're welcome here – regardless of interests, appearance, sexual orientation, self-identification, beliefs. You don't need to know a thing about soldering irons or root shells to belong here.

Only you decide:

- where your boundaries are.
- whether you want to be photographed or filmed.
- who may use or hack your tech.
- which names and pronouns fit you.
- when you need space.
- when something crosses a line – threats or fear are never okay.
- who may come close to you.
Any form of touch requires your consent.
- pressure is never acceptable.

 You can say "no" when boundaries are crossed. You can say "no" with looks, words, or your body posture.
No matter whether you've said "yes" earlier. You can always get support for yourself and for others.
If you feel uncomfortable or unwell, or if you feel that others need support.
